GÄNSEOPER

Public sound installation
© Danica Dakić 2014

In collaboration with the photographer
Egbert Trogemann and the composer Bojan Vuletić

The container installed at the Kaiserberg traffic junction in Duisburg is the sound box from which the GÄNSEOPER (Goose Opera) can be heard. From October to December 2013, sounds and vocalizations made by geese were recorded at Heißener Hof farm. In collaboration with the composer Bojan Vuletić, the birds' voices were woven into a composition.

GÄNSEOPER is a music drama without a libretto, which at the interface between sound, container, and the installation site, poses questions about the relationship between art and life.
